

ENT in the Desert 2017

Exhibitor Prospectus

Following the success of our ENT in the Desert Symposium in March 2016, and in response to the many requests from attendees, we are planning ENT in the Desert 2017!

ENT IN THE DESERT 2017 is sponsored by University of Arizona Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery. It will again be held at the spectacular Loews Ventana Canyon Resort in Tucson, Arizona, Thursday, February 16 through Saturday, February 18, 2017.

The symposium drew more than 140 participants from 20 states last time and we are expecting an audience of many more in 2017.

Nationally renowned speakers, along with faculty from the University of Arizona and academic physicians from the state of Arizona will be invited to lecture and sit on panels.

Designed to appeal to Otolaryngologists in practice, allied health practitioners and physicians-in-training, the symposium will cover the following topics in Otolaryngology:

Facial Plastics and Reconstruction
Rhinology/Allergy

Otology and Neurotology
Head and Neck Surgery

As an exhibitor, you are very welcome to attend any of the lectures.
