

ENT in the Desert 2018

Exhibitor Prospectus

Following the success of our ENT in the Desert Symposium in February 2017, we are planning ENT in the Desert 2018!

ENT IN THE DESERT 2018 is sponsored by the University of Arizona Department of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery. It will once again be held at the spectacular Loews Ventana Canyon Resort in Tucson, Arizona, Thursday, February 15 through Saturday, February 17, 2018.

The symposium drew more than 120 participants from 24 states last time and we are expecting an audience of many more in 2018.

Nationally renowned speakers, along with faculty from the University of Arizona and academic physicians from the state of Arizona will be invited to lecture and sit on panels.

Designed to appeal to Otolaryngologists in practice, allied health practitioners and physicians-in-training, the symposium will cover the following topics in Otolaryngology:

Head and Neck Surgery
Otology
Rhinology/Allergy

Laryngology
Pediatrics
Sleep Surgery

As an exhibitor, you are very welcome to attend any of the lectures.
